The place

240 kilometres by river from Tura

The camp stands on the wild rivers of Evenkia in the foothills of the Putorana Plateau. The nearest settlement, Tura, is 240 kilometres away by river. No road leads to the camp: only the river, taiga and mountains.

The team meets the group in Tura and takes it to camp in the expedition boats. It takes care of the camp, the kitchen with a cook, the banya and the days on the water, so you can focus on the river and the fishing.

Fishing

Taimen

The most sought-after fish of Siberian rivers. Taimen grow slowly, so on the expedition they are photographed at the water and returned straight away.

Catch and release

For taimen, no exceptions

What else you might catch

Lenok

A strong fighter of pools and riffles.

Grayling

Quick takes on riffles, great on light spinning and the fly.

Whitefish

A wary fish of slow pools.

Pike

Sudden strikes in backwaters and side channels.

How the days on the water work

Boat and guide

New stretches of river every day. The guide picks stretches based on the water level and the group's experience.

Spinning and fly

Both work here. The guide shows beginners the basics.

Care for the fish

Barbless hooks, release in the water, a photo in a few seconds.

The catch depends on the weather, the water level and the season. The organiser explains the rules for other species before the trip.

The route via Krasnoyarsk

How many flights you need depends on where you start. The last stage, 240 km by river from Tura to camp, is organised by the team.

On your own

Your city → Krasnoyarsk

Regular flights to Krasnoyarsk airport (KJA). It is best to arrive the day before the Tura flight.

Krasnoyarsk → Tura

A KrasAvia flight to Gorny airport, about 2 h 45 min. Flights are not daily.

The team meets you

Tura → camp 240 km by river

We meet you in Tura and take you to camp in the expedition boats, and back to Tura the same way on the last day.

Before you buy tickets

Agree dates with the organiser. Flight schedules to Tura change by season and northern weather can delay a departure: plan a reserve day.

The expedition's two boats

The run from Tura and the daily trips on the water use the expedition's two boats: the Akademiya 555 with a travel canopy against wind and rain, and the Sherpa 650.

Akademiya 555

Sherpa 650

On the way

Clothing

Bring a waterproof jacket and trousers even under the canopy: wind and spray on the river.

Luggage

Keep documents and electronics in a dry bag; soft bags pack best.

Team and organisation

Cook

Cooks breakfast, lunch and dinner. When the boat goes far from camp, lunch may be served on the bank.

Boat guide

Picks river stretches for the water and weather, helps with tackle and runs the boat.

Organiser

Answers questions before the trip, sends the contract and helps with travel and gear.

Living in the expedition camp

After a day on the river: a warm tent, a bed ready for you and a way to reach your family.

up to 4

Up to four people per tent

We live in shared tents on the riverbank. Each has four camp beds, tables and boxes for personal things and gear.

Bedding included

Every guest gets a camp bed, a warm sleeping bag and a pillow.

Autonomous heating

The tents have autonomous heaters. Guests do not need to cut firewood or keep a fire going.

Charging your devices

Each tent has a power block with USB and USB-C sockets connected to the generator. Devices can be charged while it is running.

Staying in touch

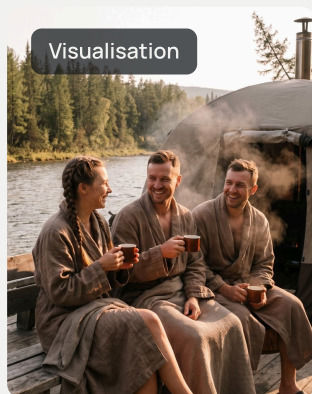

The camp has satellite internet. It is switched on for 2 to 3 hours a day so guests can reach their families and check messages.

What else the camp has

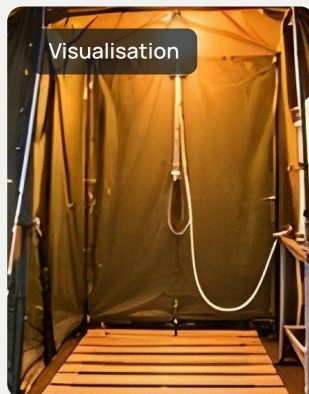

One table

The kitchen tent where the cook makes breakfast, lunch and dinner.

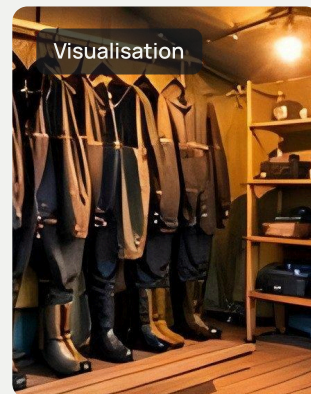

Wood-fired banya

A tent banya with a stove and stones.

Hot shower

A field shower with heated water.

Drying tent

A separate tent for drying clothes and waders.
